LOCAL MATTERS.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES, October 2, 1879 For the Middle Atlantic Etates clear or partly aloudy weather, wind mostly southerly, nearly stationary temporature, and lower barometer.

Success!-A grander success than has attended the Fair, thus far, was not anticipated by the most sanguine of the friends of the exposition. The display has exceeded expectation, and the crowds in attendance have been in excess of the largest estimates. To-day there must have been on the grounds between fifteen and twenty thousand persons! Such a sight has not been seen here since the war.

THE MANASSAS CEMETERY. - The handsome and gollant display of living soldiers which paraded our streets to day should tring to the minds and hearts of all our people, of all bystanders, and of the troops themselves, those dead so'd er who sleep in unquiet graves with headboards talien and cattle grazing over their once dauntless breasts, on the plains of Manas sas. "After life's fieful fever" the dead-all the dead-"should sleep well." Particularly should this be so with the soldier who diesgives un every thing-hat his countrymen may live. No more for them will shine the sun or moon or quiet stars; no basy house wife greet their coming step; no children climb their knees the well remembered kiss to share. For them no more "the spirit stirring drum" or "the ear piereing fife," or "those mortal enthe sed of Virginia over their remains, and headboards to guied the food steps of loveing to take him in the Fair.

THE DAY .- To day has been emplaining a red letter day in the ancals of Al xandria; such a day in fact as has not been witnessed within the memory of that venerable and high ly respectable incivitual, "the oldest inhabitant.

From an early hour King street has been one dense mass of men, women, children and expedition against the hostile Use Indians, vehicles. The crowd was too dense for Penn. sylvania avenue, in Washington, and more resemtled Broadway in New York.
The train on the W. & O. R. R., which arrived here about 8 c'elock brought four cars crowded with visitors to the fair.

On the Midland Road the special train from Gordonsville brought rix cars loaded with pecple, besides many who came down on the regular train. The Commercial Exphange, Posteffice and most of the stores were closed, and the people tuined out en masse. Every boat from Washington was loaded, and the through line of stages was kept busy. The o'd fogies who predicted the nen-success of the fair, care out of their holes, and adjusting their speciacles to their aged roses, took a glance and wondered. The business men tock a good lock, and, rathing their hands, rushed into their steres to wait upon the rapidly accumulating crowd of castomers. The young ladies looked and blushed, as the numberless handsome young men went by. The young man of the period took a glance—instead of his morning coektail-and commenced to promeoad. [COMMUNICATED. "THE PISCATORIAL CURICSITY" mentioned in the Gamette of yesterday may be strange in Charleston, but is very common in the South Atlantic. If there is any "pilot fish" to the shark, it is not the sucker, which is a parasite, and sticks closely to him. When a shark is caught and hauled on board a vessel there are often seen several suckers clinging to him, most of which drop off when he is thrown violently on dock. The sucker is a small black fish; he has a sort of ridged sucker beneath the jaw, and when attached to the shark sticks with great The mare belongs to Mr. J. S. Lowey now attempted to return to the command, but was informed he must remain, but after giving them a number of assurances of his peaceable mission he was allowed to depart, but was accompanied by about thirty wars riors, who rode with him a number of miles and then left him. Lowry arrived at the com-mand, then near Milk crack, on the evening of the 28th, and gave Major Thoroburgh the above information. The next moralog, September 29, the command advanced under the guidance of Joe Rankin, who is well acquainted with the country, about 9 a. m.
